

The Lawyer's Holiday Humor Album

IF YOU ARE LOOKING for that perfect gift for your law firm associates this holiday season and just don't know where else to turn, you may want to give your co-workers a compact disc that will amuse your entire firm.

"The Lawyer's Holiday Humor Album", written and sung by New York City attorney Lawrence Savell of Chadbourne & Parke LLP, is a compilation of reworded popular Christmas and holiday songs that pokes good-natured fun at lawyers and the legal profession.

With songs like "All I Want for Christmas is a Stomach Lining" and "Ridin' On a Red Eye with Santa on Christmas Eve", the CD offers lawyers an opportunity to laugh along with Savell as he sings about common situations and frustrations lawyers share.

A litigation attorney in New York, Savell says he is also a part-time songwriter, singer and musician. After writing law-related humorous CD's for the past several years for his family, friends and co-workers, Savell decided to release "The Lawyer's Holiday Humor Album" to the public.

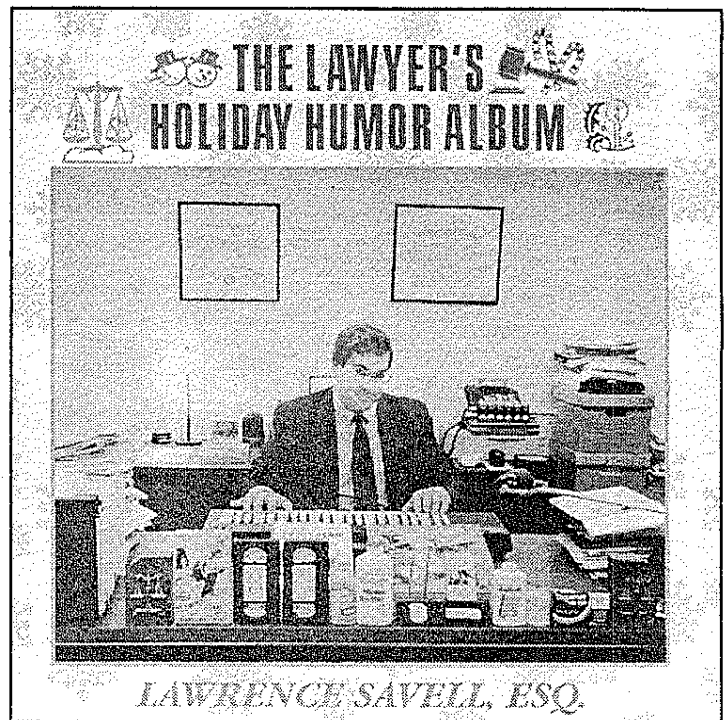

"I believe the CDs are more personal than traditional store-bought cards, and they hopefully bring a smile and a little diversion to persons who receive them," Savell said. "In particular, they allow me to express my appreciation to the people with whom I work at my firm for the assistance and comradeship they have provided me during yet another stressful and demanding year."

Savell admits that his songs may be a bit amateurish, since they are recorded in his Manhattan bedroom, and occasionally a siren or horn can be heard in the background. But, Savell said, he thinks that adds to the charm.

And through his music, Savell hopes to bring that charm to the legal profession during the holidays, a particularly stressful time for many, he said.

"While, as a lawyer, I have to keep some control lest people get the impression that I am completely frivolous," Savell said, "I have tried to balance a sense of perspective with the idea that this is a season of joy and pleasure, and that a little mirth has its place even in my profession."

The holiday CD, which sells for $15. ($10 cassette), is available through Savell's post office box; Lawrence Savell, P.O. Box 1294, New York, NY 10185-1294, or at www.lawrencesavell.com.
